

NORDIC KNOTS

Folding Ribbon

Designed by Campbell-Rey with a colourful and art deco-influenced sensibility and the floral motifs of Gustavian style, the neoclassicism of the North. Gustavian style, a Swedish take on French neoclassicism dating back to the 1780s, with motifs like the wreath and the folding ribbon, along with ideas taken from the history of garden design.

Folding Ribbon is a modern interpretation of the ribbons and swags that appear in late 18th-century furniture of the Gustavian style. In raspberry pink and amber, this 3D trompe l'oeil pattern looks strikingly modern despite its roots in a 250-year-old aesthetic.
